22 Depression is a common mental health issue. Researchers have identified that both nature and nurture factors are involved in how it is caused.

As an individual, the symptoms and treatment of depression can affect the ability to cope, from completing basic day-to-day activities to employment. It can also put a strain on family relationships.

In wider society, depression can have an impact on many different areas including employment, health services, emergency services and public funding.

Assess the importance of whether depression is caused by nature or nurture factors.

24 A woman needs money to help her brother but does not have enough to help him. She steals money from her workplace and gives it to her brother.

Three men from England were asked whether the woman's actions were right or wrong and why.

- Man A said the woman was right to steal the money because everyone in the world is equal and so money should be given to those who need it.
- Man B said the woman was wrong to steal the money because she might get in trouble.
- Man C said the woman was right to steal the money because her family might disapprove of her not helping her brother.

Assess how stages of morality can account for the responses given by the men.

27 After conflicts such as the First or Second World Wars, victims were left with damaged brains. Soldiers who returned home with damaged brains found their level of functioning was impaired. Some also returned home suffering from psychological problems.

Case studies of brain-damaged patients have helped researchers to study the brain and from this they have attempted to propose how the structure and function of the brain affect human behaviour and processing.

Damage to a specific brain area can lead to theories about the function of that region, which may change over time as greater knowledge is amassed through research using improved technology.

Assess how psychological understanding of the brain has changed over time.

22 Major atrocities can reveal the most aggressive side of human behaviour.

Death and destruction during war and the purposeful killing of other humans have been studied in psychology to try to discover the potential causes of these acts.

Unearthing the causes of such acts may enable them to be prevented in the future.

Stanley Milgram conducted a series of experiments to study obedience to authority. Other researchers in psychology have investigated crowd behaviour, conformity, and the bystander effect. Research, such as this, has enabled psychologists to understand ways to prevent blind obedience, and the social and cultural issues in psychology.

Assess social and cultural issues in psychology.

26 Declan is researching human memory. He recruited a selection of volunteers with amnesia and a selection of volunteers without amnesia to participate in an investigation assessing their memory.

The volunteers were asked questions about public events that happened during their lifetime. They were asked to answer 90 questions using a multiple-choice format, where the number of correct responses were recorded.

Later, the volunteers were shown 100 photographs of people and asked to respond 'yes' or 'no' to whether the photograph showed a certain celebrity. For example, 'Is this person Barack Obama?' Half of the time the correct answer was 'yes'. Their score for the test was recorded.

Declan carried out data analysis for the two memory tasks to see whether there was a difference between the memory of those with amnesia compared to those without amnesia.

Assess how far research into memory, such as Declan's investigation, could be considered reductionist.

23 Giovanni was at school at lunchtime when his friend asked him if he was going to the concert of their favourite band the following summer. Giovanni said he had no money to pay for a ticket, so his friend suggested he get a part-time job. Giovanni's friend said most of their friends had part-time jobs that fitted around school and were all saving their money to pay for a ticket to the concert.

Giovanni went to his local shop and was successful in getting a job as a newspaper delivery person. He had to deliver newspapers to the same houses each day and remember a specific route which started and ended at the shop.

When Giovanni was delivering newspapers one morning, he looked through the window of a house and saw an elderly person on the floor in distress. Giovanni tried to get into the house to help the person, but could not, so rang the emergency services who arrived soon after. The paramedics said the person was lucky that Giovanni had raised the alarm as they did not have any family so were unlikely to have been helped.

28 Lorenzo has always liked music and can play a number of instruments. His favourite instrument is the guitar but he can play the piano, drums, clarinet, saxophone and trumpet.

Recently Lorenzo has joined a band. He is one of the guitar players but sometimes plays the piano or drums or sings if others cannot attend rehearsals. He has been making some mistakes with the songs during rehearsals by missing notes or some words from the songs.

For their forthcoming performance at a local pub the lead singer, called Daniel, tells the rest of the band to wear black T-shirts with skulls on them and so they all buy one. Lorenzo does not have enough money to buy a T-shirt, but makes his own so that he does not feel like the odd one out.

During the performance the band members begin to shout and scream and swear a lot when they do not normally act this way.

23 Lukas really enjoys musicals, but his friends that he spends most of his time with do not enjoy musicals. There is a musical production being put on by Lukas's school in a few weeks' time, and Lukas has auditioned and got a part, but has not told his friends.

During break time at school, all of Lukas's friends laugh and make fun of other students who are involved in the musical. Lukas sometimes joins in and makes fun of them too, because he is embarrassed to tell his friends he is involved in the musical.

When Lukas is with the musical cast and crew, he really enjoys reading his lines with the other people involved in the musical. Lukas works very hard to learn his lines by repeating them a lot and practising them with the other cast members. Lukas also constantly practises his dance moves for the musical, in private away from his friends.

When at school, Gerard Chesworth is not competitive and always waits his turn and never shouts or screams. When the whole family are at home playing games they become very competitive, they all scream and shout a lot and Gerard joins in.

Recently, Gerard's father taught the family to play a new card game. Gerard found the game difficult to understand and kept forgetting the rules, which meant he lost most of the time. This made Gerard very upset, so he played the game repeatedly on his own in private.

The next time the family played the new card game, Gerard won quite a few times which made him happier. Gerard's brother started to come last all of the time. He stopped playing, stood up and told the family there is no point in playing any more as he would never improve.
