Question number	Indicative content	Mark
34	AO1 = 3 marks; AO2 = 3 marks; AO3 = 3 marks Markers must apply the descriptors in line with the general marking guidance (on pages 2–3). Due to the intrinsic links between the skills, if a response evidences performance against only one trait/skill it will be for demonstrating knowledge and understanding. An answer displaying qualities of AO1 only, cannot be awarded more than the top of Level 1, no matter how strong the performance is in AO1. AO1 • Freudian theory suggests that dreams are where repressed, unconscious information filters into human awareness. • Manifest content is what a person remembers from the dream and may include people or events from recent encounters. • Latent content is the symbolic meaning behind the dream which could be considered an underlying wish to be fulfilled. AO2 • The negative comments about her appearance from the 30 men in the dream could represent an unconscious worry that the man from work may think that she is not as nice away from work. • Aisha may have dreamt that the men resembled her dad as she could have seen or spoken to him that day, so he is in her recent memories. • Aisha may wish to find a man who can protect and look after her so when she was rescued in the dream, she experienced wish fulfilment of her underlying desire. AO3 • The theory is based on evidence from Freud's own wish fulfilment dream about one of his patients and supported by the case study of Little Hans (1909). • Manifest content may be better explained by spikes in brain activity where the process of synthesis takes place, so Aisha's dream may not have any meaningful content. • The process of wish fulfilment through a dream can help Aisha reduce her worries about the meeting as dreamwork helps transform her worries into a safe format to reduce her anxiety.	(9)

For example: • The details that the client recalls from their dream about running or saving someone may not be remembered correctly, reducing validity of the analysis (1) because secondary elaboration means Marcel may not have accurate dream content on which to base his analysis (1). • Marcel's interpretations of what the falling objects or running represent to identify hidden meanings is subjective (1), so the latent content that Marcel identifies is based on personal opinion and so cannot be objectively measured (1).
